“ I don't know how to express how much sorrow I have right now. I think it still hasn't sunk in that your are gone. I know you wanted me to be here for Ronnie and Jennifer as I am, thank you for asking me to do that. I know as time moves on the pain will ease, I also know that times the we spoke of faith how strong yours was. You always encouraged me to keep my faith as I have. I remember the long talks during the week and the comfort I felt afterwards. Your concerns for Ronnie, Jennifer with her spine, but never about your back. I remember the hot spots on your back from the heating pads, how much pain that must be, to endure that kind of treatment. You asked why the Lord doesn't take you On home, I told you that we cant see the long line in GODS time and that his plan is not our plan. maybe your sudden death is for me to work on my own health to be there for Molly.

I also remember your laugh and you never had a bad thing to say about anyone. How you loved Roy's grandchildren and concerns for Donna, your encouraging words about her father will serve her well in the future. The last time we were together as a family in Pigeon Forge, I'm so thankful for that time we had. I remember coming to your house and smelling candle scents even before going inside. The scent was so strong that it imbedded into my clothes. That scent would not dissipate until I washed them. Such simple things brought you great pleasure.

I know you are with God, I know you have no more pain,, I know you have no more sorrow For that, I'm grateful.

john: 5, verse 24

"Very truly I tell you, whoever here my word and believes him who sent me has eternal life and will not be judged but has crossed over from death to life"

Love, your big brother
Roger
